

Useful Resources

The website now includes numerous support resources, including Live Binders in English/Language Arts, Mathematics, and Science. AERO faculty have reviewed, vetted, and used these resources in their workshops. The materials in the binders provide guidance for the implementation of a standards-based curriculum. The binders include a wealth of useful information, including practical classroom strategies, that will enhance the teaching, learning and assessment processes in the classroom.

University Credit

Participants in AERO Summer Institutes and regional conferences can earn graduate credits for projects they complete related to their work in the institute or conference. Course descriptions are available on the AERO website and registration information is presented during the institute or conference.
